WELCOME TO PEPPERDINE UNIVERSITY!

Pepperdine University is an independent, private Christian university enrolling more than 7,700 students in its five colleges and schools. We have drawn students from every state of the union and from more than 80 countries worldwide. Pepperdine is considered to be among the nation's finest universities, regarded for its high academic standards, its nationally acclaimed Division I athletics program, and its commitment to serving the needs of each and every Pepperdine student.

Our world-renowned, 830-acre Malibu campus is home to our undergraduate school, Seaver College, our Schools of Law and Public Policy, and programs of the Graziadio School of Business and Management and the Graduate School of Education and Psychology. Additionally, our graduate campuses, located throughout Southern California, afford convenient access to mid-career adults pursuing advanced degrees in business, education, and psychology, and bachelor's degrees in business.

The pages of this guide will introduce you to each of our schools, our alumni, and our athletics programs; as well as our history, financial data, and some of what makes Pepperdine unique.

BEGINNINGS AND BENEFACTORS

In February 1937, against the backdrop of despair and pessimism of the Great Depression, a man named George Pepperdine decided to do a hopeful thing in unhopeful times: endow, erect, dedicate, and accredit a Christian liberal arts college in the city of Los Angeles. Remarkably, led by Mr. Pepperdine's commitment and passion, only 7 months later on September 21, students entered classes on a newly built campus, and by April 6, 1938, George Pepperdine College was fully accredited by the Northwest Association.

As the young college grew over the decades it caught the attention of entrepreneur, lawyer, and inventor Frank R. Seaver, who mentioned Pepperdine in his will. However, it was his widow, Blanche E. Seaver, who came to wholly embrace the Pepperdine mission. She extended the Seaver family legacy through generous gifts which enabled the school to expand into Malibu in 1972. In 1975, the Malibu campus was named the Frank R. Seaver College, and it has become the flagship undergraduate school of the University.

Pepperdine has had a graduate business school since 1969, later named in 1996, when real estate entrepreneur and Imperial Bank cofounder George L. Graziadio, Jr., "adopted" it as his fourth child, and endowed it not only with his gifts and his name, but with his optimism and dynamic personality. In the spirit of its namesake, the Graziadio School provides business education that is entrepreneurial in spirit, ethical in focus, and global in orientation.
