

CHRISTIANITY AND LITERATURE SUBMISSION GUIDELINES

Christianity and Literature is a peer-reviewed journal devoted to the scholarly exploration of how literature engages Christian thought, experience, and practice. Although the journal presupposes no particular theological orientation, it yet respects an orthodox understanding of Christianity as a historically defined faith. Submissions will be reviewed by the journal editors and by scholars in the field in a traditional double-blind process. The editors will consider a submission only with the understanding that it has not been concurrently submitted elsewhere.

All essays submitted for publication should conform to the MLA Style Manual, 7th ed. Articles of fewer than 4,000 or more than 9,000 words in text are not ordinarily considered. Submissions should comply with accepted guidelines for nonsexist usage and language and should employ the documentation style outlined in the MLA handbook, including a Works Cited list and parenthetical citations in the text.

All submissions should include

- A title page with the author's name, email address and mailing address
- A 100-word abstract on a separate page
- The essay, with the title on the first page and page numbers on all following pages. There should be no author identification in the body of the essay.

Electronic submissions in Microsoft Word are preferred. The essay should be sent as an email attachment to christianityandliterature@pepperdine.edu.

To submit an essay by mail, send two printed copies to Christianity and Literature, Humanities Division, Pepperdine University, 24255 Pacific Coast Highway, Malibu, CA 90263-7232.

(revised July 2009)