KEY ADMINISTRATIVE APPOINTMENTS, ROLES, AND RESPONSIBILITIES

Dean, Honors College, Baylor University, 2019-present

Overview. The Honors College serves 1,400 undergraduates within four programs and a residential college, who pursue over 90 majors in 17 different degrees across eight other colleges and schools. Our 40-member faculty has expertise spanning anthropology, biology, classics, communication, comparative literature, creative writing, English, French, history, medicine, philosophy, political science, and theology. College endowment is $28.3 million.

Duties and Responsibilities. Serve as Dean reporting to the Provost, with administrative and leadership duties including budget, curriculum, faculty hiring and evaluation, fundraising, staff support and supervision, strategic planning, and undergraduate recruitment and retention.

- Provide vision, leadership, and strategic direction for 1,400 high-ability students, 40 faculty, and 20 administrative, advising, and professional staff.
- Cultivate an exemplary faculty and staff through sound interviewing and hiring practices, constructive performance reviews, and opportunities for advancement.
- Oversee annual budget covering operations, personnel, scholarships, and technology, plus various endowed and restricted funds.
- Lead fundraising efforts in support of College priorities, liaising with Advancement colleagues to fulfill comprehensive campaign goals.
- Convene meetings of national Advisory Council comprised of talented alumni and generous philanthropists whose counsel and support benefit the College.
- Communicate effectively with internal and external constituencies, emphasizing the mission and work of the College with confidence, eloquence, grace, and regularity.
- Build a culture of collegiality, collaboration, trust, and rapport through personal example, warm friendship, and generosity of spirit in word and deed.
- Strengthen curriculum in light of best national practices in honors education.
- Lead high-profile student recruitment initiatives for the College, including Invitation to Excellence, Distinguished Scholars Day, and Premiere Day, among others.
- Provide joint oversight with Student Life of the Honors Residential College, housing 330 students and led by a faculty steward, program director, hall director, and resident chaplain.
- Host nationally and internationally distinguished scholars for endowed lecture series, seminars, workshops, and public events.
- Represent College in academic planning/policy meetings convened by the provost and president (Academic Leadership Council, Council of Deans, and University Council).
- Maintain an active program of grant writing, research, and publication.

Key Accomplishments

- Led development of two successive unit-level strategic plans in support of University strategic plans (Illuminate and Baylor in Deeds), with emphases that included advancing Christian environment; transformational undergraduate education; research and scholarship marked by quality, impact, and visibility; and judicious stewardship.

- Completed $57.75 million building and renovation project creating new home for Honors College at historic heart of campus, including administrative/deans suite, advising center, faculty offices, and residential college.
- Achieved back-to-back Give Light campaign records of $4.21 million (2022) and $4.97 million (2023) in gifts toward $25 million campaign goal.
- Secured commitments for two endowed chairs: Jim and Sharon Harrod Chair of Christian Thought ($3 million) and J.B. Parker Chair in Health Science and Leadership ($1.5 million).
- Awarded $1.5 million Mabee Foundation Grant to support capital project.
- Secured gifts creating 17 new endowed scholarship funds.
- Increased diversity of faculty and staff through strengthened recruiting, supportive professional culture, and leadership by example.
- Launched Postdoctoral Teaching Fellowship Program built on teaching excellence, mentoring, and intellectually, morally, and spiritually formative liberal arts education.
- Expanded global education opportunities for honors students through new faculty-led study abroad and international mission programs.
- Produced multiple student winners of prestigious postbaccalaureate scholarships and fellowships, including Barry, Boren, Clinton, Fulbright, Goldwater, Marshall, Pickering, Truman, Rangel, and Schwarzman.

Associate Dean, Honors College, 2012-2019 (Acting Dean, Fall 2018)

Serve as Associate Dean reporting to the Dean of the Honors College with responsibility for academic administration, enrollment management, and scholarships.

- Fulfill academic administration functions of Dean's Office.
- Represent Dean as needed at meetings of the University Deans' Council, faculty candidate interviews, and alumni functions.
- Provide leadership at major student recruitment events.
- Administer scholarship program supported through endowment of ~$15 million.
- Evaluate and improve recruitment, enrollment, and retention efforts.
- Participate in development strategy meetings and support major gift solicitations.
- Plan programs of faculty development such as teaching seminars and retreats.
- Host nationally and internationally distinguished scholars for public lectures, seminars, workshops, and other public events.
- Promote scholarship by example and engagement with colleagues' research.

Faculty Master, Brooks Residential College, 2007-2013

Provide leadership as a live-in faculty member for a 365-student residential college, cultivating a heightened sense of community that fosters academic excellence, intensive faculty-student interaction, and a rich student experience steeped in Baylor tradition.

- Supervise professional and graduate student staff including the director, resident chaplain, resident tutor, and administrative assistant as well as for undergraduates serving in a variety of elected and appointed roles on the college council.

- Work with colleagues in externally contracted dining and facilities/grounds services (Aramark) in order to ensure quality support for college programming.
- Develop a recruitment and retention plan oriented toward providing students with a superb four-year residential experience.
- Preside at a weekly formal Sunday college dinner, hosting distinguished guests at high table and facilitating highly interactive student discussions.
- Convene a weekly Tuesday tea time in master's residence for students to meet leaders in academia, business, civic life, culture, law, medicine, ministry, etc.
- Lead weekday services of morning and evening prayer in the college chapel, drawing upon ecumenical Christian resources shaped by Free Church traditions.
- Support Imperative II (Create a Truly Residential Campus) of University's strategic plan through advocacy within student life, provost's office, and board of regents, culminating in $70 million East Village Residential Community for 700 students.

Co-Director, Baylor in Turkey and Greece, 2012-2019

Oversee summer study abroad program with study of great books, philosophy, and religion in historically and culturally significant sites in Turkey and Greece. Responsibilities for budget management, curriculum, faculty assignments, student recruitment, and tour planning.

Work in Progress

1. The Other Euthyphro Dilemma (article).
2. Rethinking Divine Hiddenness in a Metaphysics of Participation (article)
3. Three Rival Versions of University Education.
An eight-chapter book examining the university's competing aims, internal disorders, and public confusions in light of postmodernity's "tournament of narratives." The book explores three culturally regnant narratives at work: tragic optimism, cynicism, and charity. Each narrative is enacted within university life: curriculum, pedagogy, resource allocation, marketing, and residential life, inter alia. Self-critical awareness of these narratives is essential for universities to pursue sound higher education. Such awareness also is a key step in preparing students for responsible life, for not every culturally influential narrative is of equal quality and even good narratives can be rehearsed with greater or lesser skill.
4. Redeeming Socrates: Natural Piety in Plato's Euthyphro.
A six-chapter book enlisting Plato's Euthyphro to recover Socrates' unfamiliar religious ways from oblivion, critique revisionary accounts that unjustly impute guilt based on Platonic texts written to establish Socrates' innocence, and redeem Socrates' piety from dismissal as splendida peccata. The book reveals Socrates' religious seriousness, probity of judgment, and shining character as it explores varied problems raised in the dialogue. These problems include semiotic puzzles (what signs can communicate unseen divine realities, 6b), metaphysical issues (relation of instances of piety to a Form of Piety, 6e), theological predicaments (choice between divine limitation and divine voluntarism, 10a), and taxonomic questions (piety as part of justice or justice as part of piety, 12e). The dialogue also raises problems having more to do with character than concepts: the character conducive to piety, and the contrasting characters of Euthyphro and Socrates.
