CLIMATE CALLING CONFERENCE APRIL 12 - 14

Climate Calling is a free conference dedicated to exploring climate change, its consequences, and our moral calling to respond to growing concerns about the future of our planet. The gathering draws students, faculty, and community members together in a mutual effort to address the subject of climate change and to foster a more sustainable future. Over the course of three days, attendees learn about topics such as species extinction, drought, flooding, marine impacts, sustainable food practices, and environmental justice and activism through lectures, documentaries, and student presentations. National Geographic Society explorer in residence Dr. Sylvia A. Earle is set to speak on Wednesday, April 12, at 7 PM in Elkins Auditorium. For more information and a detailed schedule of events visit pepperdine.edu/climate-calling.
