1. Provide a brief explanation of your data collection methodology and attach a copy of the rubric used.
2. If you collected indirect data, describe the data (focus groups, reflective questions, etc) and how it helped explain your direct or authentic data.
3. What do these results tell you about student learning?
4. What actions, if any, have you taken or will you take based on this report?
5. Describe how these findings have been or will be shared with program faculty, students, the divisional or program dean, or others in your department or program.

Feel free to attach any tables, charts, or other reports you may have generated to highlight your findings.

This report is not intended to supplant or replace other meaningful data collection or reporting that your department or program may do.
